Hi Michael just to set the record straight I have enclosed a copy of an email that I received from Louise Thom to-day regarding how many trees are planted at the Cherry Tree Walk. I will add the following information from my records. 1996 6 trees planted, 1997 150 trees planted, 1998 250 trees planted, 2001 200 trees planted 2003 $6875 worth of trees ordered. Far more than your 307. I will also add that when the Cherry Tree Walk was terminated at Boolwey Street it was redesigned by the late Kevin Gallagher and the late Effie Kerr OAM. To fit all of the trees into this section. Therefore there are 307 trees left out of the 528 planted. Regards Grahame Tooth

Hi Graham
Lovely to hear from you.
My research did not establish exactly how many trees were planted.
The records all state different numbers at different times, including trees lost and replanted.
The intention of Effie Kerr and the committee was to plant the same number as the fallen.
The arborist surveyed surviving/existing trees and counted 307. He gave a condition assessment of each tree.

The number of cherry trees that exist today is different from the number that were planned.

Have a read of the arborist report attached to the CMP for details on the existing trees.

Please reach out if you need any clarification.

Regards Louise

Hi Louise sorry to bother you the CMP is going to Council tomorrow for to be put out on public exhibition. They are stating that only 307 trees were planted not the 525 did that come from your research? If so from who? That means only 307 people who lost their lives are acknowledged and not the 525. I believe that 525 trees were planted. Regards Grahame Tooth
